“ We cried, we laughed, and cried some more. We shared many happy memories and funny stories about Dad last weekend. He was a fair, honest and hardworking man. We were so blessed by all of the neighbors, truck drivers, relatives and friends that came out to celebrate his life. They shared many heartwarming stories. One in particular, was that Dad always treated his truckers very well. When work was slow, he would spread the work around so that they would all still be able to get in hours. One man even shared how he was always late and my Dad knew it and would always buffer the time so that the man would deliver his load on time! His "Dad/Larry-isms" were priceless! I later thought we should have written down all of them. He always bragged that he raised 2 separate families. He did! Last weekend was a real merger of love for all of us, as we celebrated the life and times of Larry Daniel. We will miss you Dad/Larry, but we know a little bit of you will always stay in our hearts. I love you Dad!

Beautifully written my sister. Yes..hearts merged and joy was shared as we celebrated his life. I felt honored and blessed to be there in his honor. I was so thankful for the friends and family that showed up it meant so much to have the love and support around us. Dad was a good man and his love made us good people! We will carry on his love Every day because that's what he taught us!! Love you and thank you for posting about OUR DAD! HE LOVED US ALL...He knew what it meant to be with out and he knew what it meant to have it all. He didn't flaunt anything because his heart wasn't about things it was about being fair, honest, dependable...the real riches in life. Love him for the hard lessons we were taught think we all got those skills down pat!!
